Joe Kertzman : Knives 2008 before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Knives 2008:

By Jon Moore I have collected the Knives annual books since 2003, after attending my first "Custom knife show" in Denver Co. I went home and started to make and buy equipment to forge my own knives. Now 5 years have passed, I'm making knives, I know personally some of the very people who display their knives in the pages of these books, and especially for the 2008 edition, I have one of MY knives in the book! Page 121! I totally agree with D. Haines, a custom forged knife will out perform any store-bought, factory stamped out knife. There are lots of books and magazines that show all the "factory made" "cookie-cutter" mass-produced knives available, but where do you find the "one of a kind", custom hand made knives, and in COLOR?? Knives annual, that's where! ---Jon annuals. I enjoy the pictures and descriptions. The articles are always interesting. Well worth buying all of the series. 2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Knives 2008 By Pablo This continues to keep the custom knifemaker or enthusiast up to date on what other makers are producing. It is also the only (and very good) catalog of makers. I have all editions since 1980 when it was first published, and find it invaluable as a reference.

The renegade annual report is back, with more than 1,000 fresh new colour photos of every type of custom knife imaginable, industry news, trend and technique reports and an updated directory to help knifemakers and collectors connect with one another and suppliers. Within the pages of this top selling knife reference the most recognised knifemakers from around the world reveal their latest creations in vibrant colour, with inspiring details about the maker, artist or engraver, and materials. Get the ultimate connection to today's knifemaking and collecting community.

About the Author Joe Kertzman has authored 12 editions of the Knives annual book, as well as the Art of the Knife, BLADE's Guide to Making Knives and four editions of Sporting Knives. Joe is also Managing Editor of BLADE Magazine.
